Coffee County Commission approves budget with added compensation for employees

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Coffee County Commissioners approved the Fiscal Year 2022 budget Monday morning, Sept. 13, during the regular bi-monthly meeting, and with that approval, employees will see a pay increase.

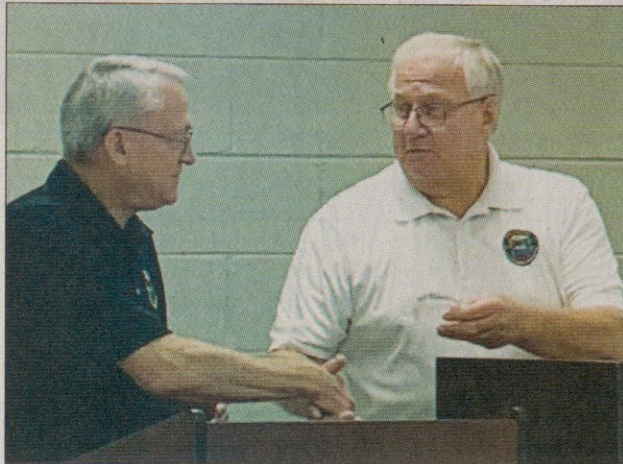

The overall budget expenditures approved for the fiscal year were $25,221,996.16, and county administrator Rod Morgan said this included a one percent COLA [Cost of Living Adjustment] for employees and it added to new paid holidays to the calendar for employees – Columbus Day and Juneteenth. Additionally, Morgan said the approved budget includes a one-time compensation adjustment of $4,000 for eligible full-time employees and $2,000 for eligible part-time employees. After the approval of the budget, several departmental heads thanked commissioners and said their employees would be delighted to hear that news.

Morgan did not that effective July 1, 2022 the budget makes way for some solid waste fee increases including a 50 cents per month increase for individual collection services and a 75 cents per ton increase for tipping fees at the landfill.

Also, during the meeting Monday morning, commissioners approved a resolution allocating up to $400,000 in ARP [American Rescue Plan] funds to purchase and equip an ambulance for Enterprise Rescue.

The next Commission meeting will be Monday, Sept. 27, at 9 a.m. in the community room of the county complex in New Brockton, Ala.

Coffee County Commission chairman Dean Smith (right) presented a token award Monday, Sept. 13, to Commissioner Tom Grimsley (left) from the Association of County Commissions of Alabama (ACCA). This was a longevity award recognizing Grimsley has completed 24 years of service in county government. Smith said at the end of the current term of office Grimsley will have a total of 28 years of service.

Coffee County Commission chairman Dean Smith (right) presented a token award Monday, Sept. 13, to Commissioner Jim Thompson (left) from the Association of County Commissions of Alabama (ACCA). This was a longevity award recognizing Thompson has completed 16 years of service in county government. Smith said at the end of the current term of office Thompson will have a total of 20 years of service.

Coffee County EMA director provides slightly improve COVID update

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Coffee County EMA director James Brown delivered slightly more optimistic news Monday morning, Sept. 13, regarding COVID-19 numbers as he spoke at the Coffee County Commission meeting.

Brown said there had been a slight drop in hospitalizations in the local area; however, he said the community is still way over capacity for available ICU beds. Therefore, he said this remains a high concern for officials.

Brown also noted the COVID positivity rate for the area had dropped some to 22.9 percent. Again, however, he said that is still too high.

"We want that number to be at five percent or less to show there is not a real community transmission," Brown said.

He added that he feels there will probably be another bump higher with positivity rates coming due to the recent Labor Day holiday. He said rates do seem to go up shortly after a holiday, especially those where large gatherings are popular.

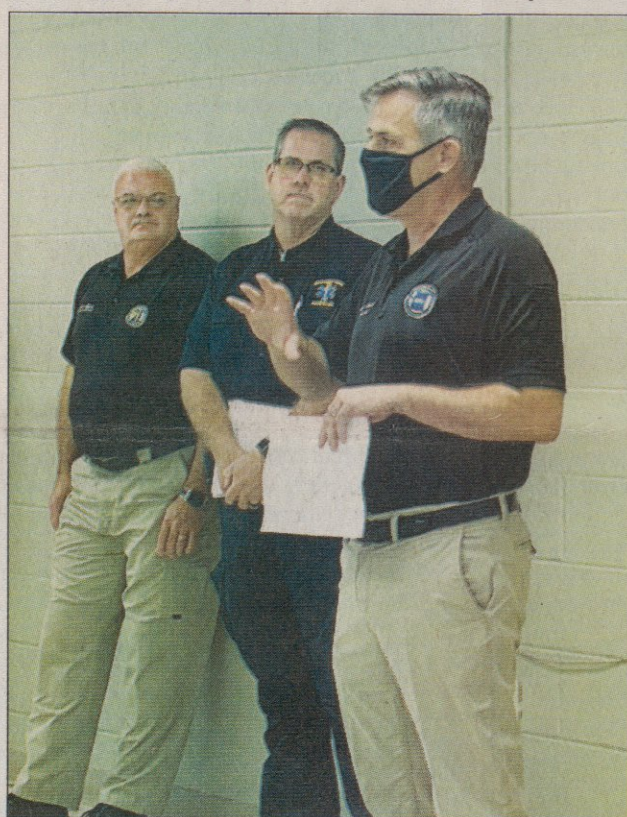

Another positive delivered by Brown to Coffee County Commissioners involved vaccination rates for COVID. He said more people are starting to get vaccinated in Alabama, according to the numbers.

Brown said it was only a slight bump up for the local area, but statewide, the numbers are looking much better. As of Monday morning, he said 51 percent of the eligible population in the state had received at least one dose of the COVID vaccine while 40 percent had been fully vaccinated.

"We still have more work to do in our area, however," Brown said.

He noted, as of Monday's report, that 37.3 percent of the eligible population in Coffee County had received at least one vaccine dose while 29.78 percent were fully vaccinated.

Brown said it remained too soon to know if the downward trend with positivity rates and hospitalizations would continue. He noted cases seemed to be moving northward in the state.

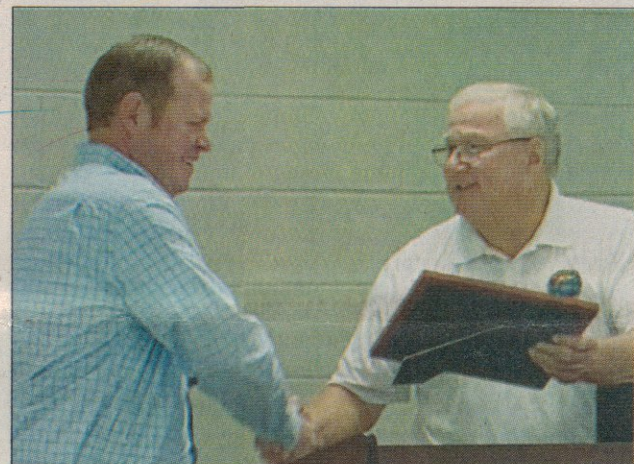

Coffee County EMA director James Brown (with mask on) is shown speaking at Coffee County Commission meeting Monday morning, Sept. 13, in New Brockton. Brown had some better news to report this meeting to commissioners regarding COVID positivity and vaccinations.

COVID update from County Schools

In her report, last Wednesday, Sept. 8, Coffee County Schools superintendent Kelly Cobb noted the school system [which is comprised of New Brockton, Zion Chapel, and Kinston schools] had a total of 29 cases of COVID-19 for the week of Aug. 31 – Sept. 7.

Of those numbers, Cobb said 11 cases were at Kinston, eight cases were at New Brockton Elementary, five cases were at New Brockton High, and five cases were at Zion Chapel.

"These numbers continue to show some improvement from last week," Cobb said. "The Coffee County School System's goal continues to be to offer high-quality face-to-face learning and extracurricular activities for all students during these challenging times."

Coffee County Commission chairman Dean Smith (right) presented a County Engineering Administration Certificate Monday, Sept. 13, to assistant county engineer Michael Walters (left) from the Association of County Commissions of Alabama (ACCA). Smith said Walters had completed course work to receive the certificate. Walters thanked commissioners for allowing him to continue his education and acquire the certificate.

Elba City Council approves resolutions during meeting

The Elba City Council met Monday evening, Sept. 13, and city clerk Sally Bane noted that trash pick-up remains behind across the city.

"We are looking for a machine operator," Bane said.

She said the addition of a machine operator to the city's workforce would allow for two trucks to be operated rather than just one to help get things caught up. Also, she said the city had placed a dumpster for trash behind the recycling building for those wanting to place their trash in that dumpster rather than leave it sitting beside the road at their residence.

During the meeting, council members approved four resolutions. The first three resolutions approved by council members dealt with to provide proper language to allow for American Rescue Plan funds to be utilized for the purchase of the identified items. These expenditures included body cameras for the police department, an ATV for the fire department, and COVID personal protection equipment items.

A fourth resolution approved the application for federal and state matching funds in Fiscal Year 2022 for taxi-lane improvements at the Carl Folsom Airport.

The city clerk noted the opening of two new businesses over the past couple of weeks in Elba. She said Blessed Nutrition and The Southern Bean had both recently opened in the downtown area. Also, Bane said Los Tigers was expected to open soon in the Shoppes at Taylor Crossing.

Further, Bane told council members that street department employees were busy this week cleaning up and preparing the downtown area for Homecoming festivities taking place this week. She specifically noted preparations for the bonfire Thursday night and the Homecoming Parade on Friday afternoon.

The council will hold a workshop Monday, Sept. 20, at 12 noon, for the purpose of discussing the Fiscal Year 2022 budget. The next council meeting will be Monday, Sept. 27, at 5:30 p.m. Both the workshop and council meeting will be at Elba City Hall.

COFFEE SHOP OPENS IN ELBA! The Elba Chamber of Commerce, along with City of Elba officials, welcomed The Southern Bean to business last week with a ribbon cutting ceremony held Thursday morning, Sept. 9th. The Southern Bean is located at 332 Simmons Street on the square in downtown Elba and is owned and operated by Leigh Seaton. A variety of coffee, breakfast treats, and lunch sandwiches are available for purchase. The shop is open from 6:30 a.m. – 4 p.m. Monday – Friday and from 8-11 a.m. on Saturdays. "Loyalty to country ALWAYS. Loyalty to government, when it deserves it." Mark Twain

Texas Governor pledges to eliminate rape!! That is a noble idea but unfortunately rape has existed at least as long as history has been recorded and probably much longer. He would have been believed and praised by more citizens if he had pledged to aggressively 'combat' rape and other violence against females.

Here are some COVID numbers from several days ago: "1,500 dying daily from COVID, at least 653,000 already dead, 100,000 in hospital with the virus, 15,000 new cases daily." Political statements and virus not real??? How can people get the same message from government officials, medical experts and their host of friends and neighbors who are sick or dying and still believe it is all a hoax? If this was the casualties in some war, the American public would be all up in arms, and justly so. However, this is a virus that is destroying families, communities and is still uncontrolled. Folks, please get the shots!

Violating your freedoms? The United States Supreme Court said in 1905 in the case of a preacher that the $5 fine he received for refusing to get vaccinated was legal. The court's logic: One man's liberty, they declared in a 7-2 ruling handed down, cannot deprive his neighbors of their own liberty — in this case by allowing the spread of smallpox disease.

It will be interesting to see the Tuesday night results of the recall vote in California. Of course, the results will be in very late Tuesday night, long after The Elba Clipper has gone to press. Polls are showing the incumbent with a huge lead, so to us this becomes a test of the folks doing the polling. They have not done so well in the past several years. We understand this is actually two votes. First it is a yes or no on keeping incumbent. If the no side is in the majority, then one of the many challengers will go into office. The confusing part to us is that it is the challenger with the most votes, even if that is only some 20% of the votes cast . . . not a case of the two highest vote getters being in a run-off. OH, there were already some individuals complaining about vote stealing, etc., this past weekend, so if the incumbent does stay in office, expect to see reruns of our most recent presidential election complaints and lawsuits.

Complaints are getting louder and louder around Elba because of the torn-up streets. This is all due to the upgrade work on water and sewer lines. It is taking longer than the contract called for, but the firms got extensions due to excessive rain delays. The complaints don't surprise us, in fact we warned city officials when they were letting the contracts last year of the uproar around Elba with the major sewer project that took forever, due to lots of different problems. That year it even became an issue in a municipal election. The only way for us tortured to look at this is that when it is completed, the streets will be freshly paved, the water and sewers will be working perfectly, etc.!

Be safe, wear your mask, social distance, wash your hands AND get the shot(s)!

Yelverton resigning from Elba School Board

At the Elba Board of Education meeting held Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, longtime board member Gladys Yelverton announced she had submitted her resignation letter from the board.

Yelverton cited personal reasons behind her decision to resign.

Welp...Cuzin Lou Lou did it again! She managed to get on Sister's bad side, and all she had to do was open her mouth!

Recently, Sister began a personal journey to make changes to her hairstyle. This began with a darkening of her color. Upon completion of that process, Lou Lou admitted the change looked better than she had imagined it would look on Sister.

Then, Sister dropped the bomb on Lou Lou. She told her that was only step one! She would be returning a week or two later to the hair stylist for round two of new color to be added to her head of hair.

Lou Lou asked, "What do you mean, round two?!?" Turns out that Sister had chosen a two-toned hair style. It would be something completely off the charts from anything she had done in the past.

Round two meant adding burgundy to her hair! Lou Lou's eyes opened wide when Sister made this announcement. A few times leading up to 'returning to the hair stylist' Lou Lou asked Sister if she was sure she knew what she was doing.

One day last week, Sister made that return trip to the stylist. Upon completion of the process, she stopped by Lou Lou's office to let her see the end result.

"Oh my!" was Lou Lou's initial reaction when she saw it. That was followed by, "Well, at least you are ready for Halloween now!" Yeah...that is when Lou Lou immediately recognized that she had stepped back into the dog-house with Sister!

After the two carried on for a few minutes – turns out Lou Lou's reaction didn't really surprise Sister after all – Lou Lou did admit to Sister that it was better than she had envisioned. She told her while she would never do anything like that herself, it actually worked well for Sister.

Now, that doesn't mean she hasn't reminded Sister a time or two since that she has a portion of her Halloween costume already ready to go, but she had to admit that Sister and her hair stylist made it work.

Don't ask Lou Lou what Sister called the new hair-do...it sounded something like 'bin laden' to Lou Lou, but Sister insists it was balayage. Lou Lou says it still sounds like bin laden to her!

A friend of Sister's accompanied her to the stylist when she got this new 'do' and over the weekend the friend called Sister on the phone. Lou Lou immediately said, "No! You two can't go change your hair colors again!"

Apparently that was not the reason for the phone call, but truth be told, they got Lou Lou running scared when it comes to what new ideas they will come up with next! Lou Lou had to ask Sister if she was going through some life crisis or something.

Anyways...Sister and her bin laden hair style are seemingly enjoying one another, so, it looks like dark brown and burgundy hair is here to stay for a while. Lou Lou is warning all her Yonder friends now to be prepared when they see Sister...it's quite a change!

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

I recently responded to an email addressing several concerns about the conditions of our city and that has prompted me to submit this letter to the editor.

It is obvious that our city streets are in terrible condition. The pavement had to be broken up in order to replace water lines and sewer lines in our infrastructure projects. When those projects are complete the street repairs will be made. In addition, the state highway department has promised resurfacing some of the state highways from Highway 84 (203) into town.

The water lines that are leaking water around town is also a result of the same water project and this is being addressed as time permits. We ran into a major problem with our water recently because of damage to one of our wells. This has not only required outside help, but also adds another burden to our water department by taking away our workers who would normally be able to repair broken water lines. We are trying our best to make sure that everyone has water to their homes and businesses even as we deal with broken water lines.

Weeds on the sidewalk and a lot of other problems associated with the street department are a result of several things. One is the lack of help. Up until this year we have depended on workers from the Work Release Center. We are not able to get as many workers from there as in the past and we have difficulty finding people willing to work. The other problem is the amount of work added because of the FEMA buy-out program. The department that is charged with regular street related work is the same department charged with demolition of FEMA homes that do not have asbestos. They have also inherited all the FEMA lots that have to be mowed. We have not been able to find anyone with a CDL to drive our second trash truck. The amount of trash has been more than normal, and we only have one trash truck operating. We have the second truck we just need a qualified operator.

The Chamber of Commerce building demolition should be done in the near future. We have to bid that project out because it will require a contractor who is qualified to deal with asbestos.

We will address the unsightly grass and weeds along our new Highway 84 with the highway department. This is not a city street, but we do want it to be maintained better. For the city to do it will possibly require a new piece of equipment.

There is light at the end of the tunnel. The tunnel is just longer than we wish it were.

Mayor of Elba

Supporting Someone After a Suicide

Losing someone to suicide may be one of the most heartbreaking and difficult forms of grief. Oftentimes, after such a loss, people are left with painful questions and burdensome memories. Here are a few ways to help support someone after a recent loss due to suicide.

As the suicide rate climbs in each part of the United States, supporting those near to you is vital. Supporting those you know and love can be as simple as a phone call or a quick text message to check in on them. Dropping by to make sure they are well and taking care of themselves can be an important way to support someone after a traumatic loss.

Encourage your friend or family member to enter counseling for their loss. Professional help is one of the best ways to help work through such grief and finding practical and professional mental health support can be the difference between moving through grief with grace or sinking deeper into despair. If needed, volunteer to go with them to a grief counseling seminar or a group therapy session: your support likely will make it easier to get help.

Offer to help your friend or loved one clean up the space left behind by the person they lost. Cleaning up a room can be painful for anyone but it can be especially painful after a difficult loss. Encourage them to keep some clothing and photos from a better time: that may ease some of the pain of loss. Encourage them to donate any other clothing pieces that could help someone else in need. Make a photo collage out of any photos left behind and frame other treasured items the deceased kept. These mementos can help provide a place to remember the person at their best rather than focusing on the troubled times.

After a loss to suicide, it may seem daunting to try and help a close friend or family member but supporting those who have lost someone to suicide is a vital part of the grief process. If someone you know is in crisis, there are resources provided below.

BREAKFAST GATHERING...Several members of the Elba High School Class of 1966 gathered Tuesday morning, Sept. 14, for breakfast at Juliette's Restaurant in Elba. Those present for this meeting were: Neal Hutto, Jerry Brown, Jerome Blackmon, Kenneth Baker, Gary Spurlin, Rodger Dale Boothe, Bobby Edmonson, Terry Calhoun, Harry Young, Jackey Tindol; and, (not pictured) Butch Oggs and Merrill Shirley.

Leavy Boutwell speaks at Elba Quarterback Club 'game day' meeting

Elba High School alum Leavy Boutwell served as the guest speaker Friday, Sept. 10, for the Elba Quarterback Club's "game day" lunch meeting, and he shared fond memories of being an Elba Tiger.

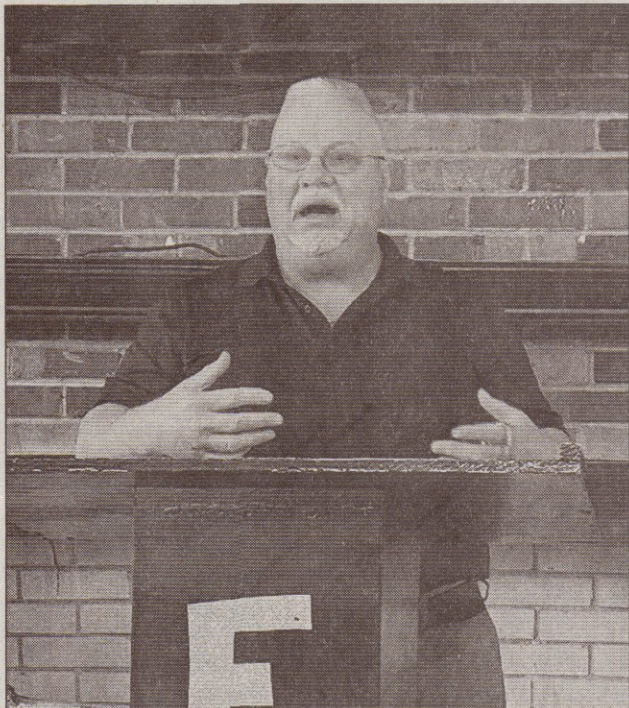

Boutwell played football for Elba and said there was nothing quite like being an Elba Tiger. He said there has always been something special about being able to say, "I'm an Elba Tiger."

After his playing days, Boutwell has spent many years in the coaching ranks, and he has been to several different places; however, he said no one would ever be able to wash the Pea River off him.

Boutwell said current Tiger head man coach Marc Sieving has the best job in the world as the leader of the Elba Tigers football program.

"Thank you for reminding us how fortunate we are to be a part of this program and this town," Sieving said to Boutwell as he thanked him for speaking at the meeting.

Looking back at the loss to G W Long, Sieving said the Tigers just made some mistakes that Long capitalized on, and even though he felt Elba had a chance to still pull out a win, they just came up short. He said it was a hard loss, but the

ZC Bass Team begins new season

by Jordan Saunders,
11th grade student

The Zion Chapel Bass Team recently has embarked on its new season of fishing.

Avery Padgett and Ethan Young, both juniors at Zion Chapel who have been fishing with the team since the beginning, gave an inside look on what bass fishing for a high school is all about.

The Zion Chapel Bass Team began nearly three years ago when the boys and other members realized their love for the sport could also allow for scholarships and the opportunity to fish at a college level. When asking Padgett and Young how long they had been fishing, they both responded with their whole lives. Two teams had the opportunity to go to nationals this past season, which was a great achievement for a team on their second season of fishing.

When asked about their experience at Lake Chickamauga, Padgett stated, "It was a great experience for two teams to make it there... to be two teams out of the whole nation was pretty good."

Young added, "It was a very big accomplishment. We didn't do too well, but we hope to go back this year and do a lot better."

The team will fish again October 3rd at Lay Lake with high hopes for the upcoming season and their careers ahead.

Courtney Jintirght named head coach for Zion's boys cross country team

by Paden Boothe,
12th grade student

The Zion Chapel Boys Cross Country team has just recently taken on a new head coach.

Staff and team members are excited to call Courtney Jintirght the new head coach of the boys team. School reporter, Jordan Saunders, conducted an interview with Coach Jintirght to get an inside look at what this year full of meets will hold.

The role of head coach is always held with a high responsibility. Coach Jintirght was asked how she felt about being named as the leader of the primarily male lead team and her answer was that of a role model.

Jintirght stated that it is "an honor to be able to hold that title."

Coach Jintirght has had experience with the cross country world having four years prior experience coaching the team--two of those years as an assistant coach and two as the head coach of the Girls Cross Country team. Jintirght is entering her fifth year now as the head coach of both teams.

Saunders asked Coach Jintirght what her expectations were for this season, and she answered with such confidence of a professional and seasoned coach.

Jintirght said that she "expects state." The Cross Country team has met state requirements for three out of the last years years, one of which they missed state by a few runners.

Coach Jintirght added she would like to continue to grow the sport by teaching her athletes to run with endurance and incorporate speed so when they reach sectionals they are equipped to run their best.

"We only get one shot to make it, and they are always hungry to get the chance to run at state," she continued.

The Zion Chapel family is very excited to see what Coach Jintirght will do with this team and what accomplishments they will obtain with this upcoming year.

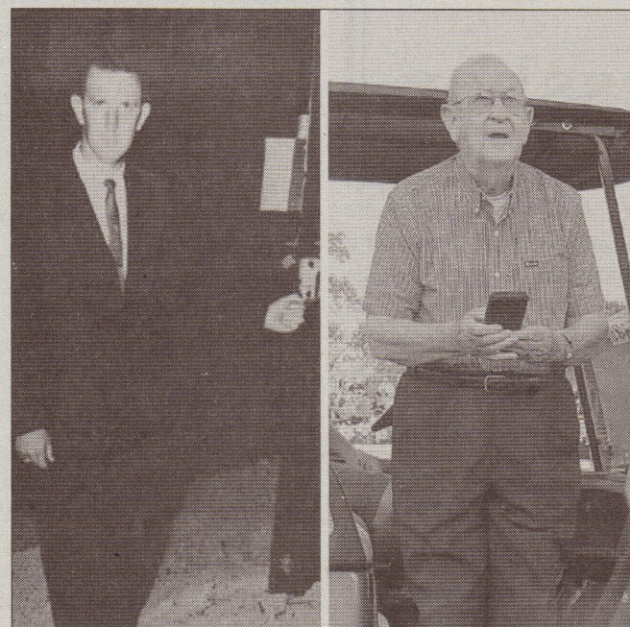

ZC legend Douglas Green returns to football field

by Ashley Storey,
English Teacher

Last Friday night, Sept. 10, was a special night at Green Memorial Stadium on the Zion Chapel Schools campus.

Douglas Green, former principal of Zion Chapel High School from 1972-1984, was present at Zion Chapel's first varsity football home game of the season to pay tribute to both his father and the school by turning on the new LED lights on the field. Green is the oldest son of Essie D and Madie B. Green.

Essie Green, a member of the South Alabama Electric Cooperative, was very instrumental in securing the original stadium lights in 1961. Due to his contribution and dedication, he was scheduled to turn on the lights at the first varsity game of 1962 but sadly passed away before the season began. His son, the aforementioned Douglas, stepped in to turn the lights on in his honor.

Nearly 60 years later, Douglas Green returned last Friday night to flip on the brand new lights at the field. This was met with a roaring applause.

Green is a well-known member of the community and is a Zion Chapel alumnus. In fact, he attended Zion from first grade through ninth, as that was the highest grade ZC served at the time. He then

ZC Rebel Marching Band begins new season

by Reannon Odore,
11th grade student

One of many things Zion Chapel School is proud of is the marching band. The Zion Chapel Band is directed by Tyler Logan, and this is his second year at Zion Chapel. He is fitting in great.

In his past years, Logan was the band director at Goshen High School. He graduated college from Troy University, where he was in the Sound of the South for many years. He played the trumpet, mellophone, and was even the drum major. Last year, those in the band had a few choices to choose from for the show theme this year. The Zion Chapel Marching Band voted for the theme "Flipping Through the Decades". This theme consists of the songs from The Andy Griffith Show, Golden Girls, Happy Days, Gilligan's Island, Fairly Odd Parents, Hanna Montana, Friends, Stranger Things, Pokemon, and The Office.

When asked what the goal is for marching band this year, Logan emphasized that importance of putting on a highly entertaining and quality show that all fans can appreciate.

"I think we have certainly

achieved that goal with this year's show choices," he said.

According to Reannon Odore, the best part about being in band is "during halftime when you've just finished performing, and you come off the field and see everyone clapping and cheering for you. The parents and students at ZC are so supportive of the band, and it is wonderful to see." This year the band has doubled in size, gaining 24 rookies. Even though it's these students first year, they are catching on fast, and the show is going amazingly well.

The band members have spent countless hours trying to learn and perfect the show for this year including two weeks of camp over the summer. The first contest will be September 25th at Rehoboth High School, and all Rebel fans are invited to come out and support the band.

Mural unveiled in the elementary school building

by Dayne Bannin,
12th grade student

The PreK-2nd grade building has a new mural beautifying the front entrance.

Kasey Adkison, the schoolwide art teacher, just began her 10th year at Zion Chapel. She spent the majority of her summer painting a breathtaking mural to bring together the front lobby of the elementary building. One of our school reporters, Dayne Bannin, interviewed her about the painting.

Adkison was asked a few questions regarding her experience with the mural and the subject of art in general. Right off the bat she said she has loved painting since she was a child, and even though she played sports and musical instruments all throughout high school, she still always found time for art in her daily lifestyle.

When asked what artist inspires her the most, she responded "I'm inspired by any artist that does their skill with the passion and determination that is felt from their work".

She believes every artist is different and has his/her own unique style and strengths.

The idea for the mural came from the elementary school principal, Ms. Tingey. She had stated that she wanted a "permanent fixture" on the wall that was "classic and timeless", and Adkison was the perfect person for the job.

Adkison chose the painting Starry Night by Vincent van Gogh because she wanted the kids to be "drawn to the movement, texture, and bright colors", and this painting was the perfect one for that.

Completion of new gymnasium drawing near

by Emma Killingsworth,
11th grade student

Zion Chapel High School is in the final stages of completing the long-awaited larger gymnasium addition to the campus.

Coffee County Schools superintendent Kelly Cobb outlined the plan at a recent board meeting that not only included the new gym at Zion Chapel, but she said it would also include a pitching and hitting facility. The new gym was needed due to increased enrollment and not meeting AHSAA 2A classification requirements.

The gym project is approximately 70 percent finished with a projected completion date of October 1st.

New gym in progress

The state-of-the-art gym will easily seat over 800 people. It will also contain new offices, locker rooms, and dressing rooms to be utilized for PE, volleyball, football, and basketball. The new concession area and bathrooms will serve both football and basketball. The estimated cost of the gym is $4,325,000.

Zion Chapel School, students, faculty, and community are all very excited and thankful for the new improvements to the campus.

We will still run the football and are confident we can be successful running the ball. Elba Tigers Chrystyle Caldwell (44) and Peyton McCart (1) try to recover a fumbled on-sides kick in last week's region win over Zion Chapel.

Zion Chapel drum major Jordan Morrow was all smiles as she led the Rebel band onto the field last Friday night to perform before the home crowd.

The Elba Tigers raced out to a lopsided 48-0 halftime lead and coasted in with a 48-12 region win over the Zion Chapel Rebels, Friday night at Green Memorial Stadium, at Jack.

Elba received the opening kickoff and wasted little time getting on the scoreboard as the Tigers went 52 yards in three plays to reach the endzone. JT Coleman rushed for 44 yards on two carries and scored the Tiger touchdown on an 8-yard dash, while Alex Wisecup kicked the extra-point to put Elba on top 7-0 with 11:04 remaining in the first quarter.

Elba began its next possession at the Zion Chapel 41-yardline after a short punt and again needed three plays to reach paydirt. The score came on a 32-yard touchdown toss from Brayden Johnson to Chrystyle Caldwell, and Wisecup again added the extra-point to push the Tigers lead to 14-0 with 8:22 left in the quarter.

Elba started its third offensive series at its own 18-yardline after another Rebel punt and this time needed four plays to cover the 82 yards to the endzone. A 62-yard pass completion from Johnson to Peyton McCart was a big play in the long scoring drive, while the touchdown came on a 15-yard gallop by Chrystyle Caldwell. Wisecup's extra-point was successful, and with 6:07 left in the opening quarter the Tigers were already in command with a 21-0 lead.

Elba punted on its next possession after being backed up by a major distance penalty, but regained possession at its own 32-yardline on a pass interception by Peyton McCart, and went 68 yards in three plays to add to its lead. The score came on a 60-yard sprint down the sidelines by Chrystyle Caldwell, and while the extra-point try failed, the Tigers were on top 27-0 with 11:02 remaining in the second quarter.

Elba's Kyle Smith recovered a Rebel fumble near midfield on the game's ensuing possession and this time the Tigers went 60 yards in three plays to get back into the endzone. A 48-yard pass from Brayden Johnson to Peyton McCart was a key play in the scoring drive, with the touchdown coming on a 4-yard blast up the middle by Alvin Henderson. Wisecup kicked the extra-point, and with 8:39 left in the quarter the Tigers owned a 34-0 advantage.

Elba's Kindarius Hill scooped up a Rebel fumble and returned it 26 yards to the Zion Chapel 9-yardline to set up the next Tiger touchdown, which came on the first play of the possession on a 9-yard run by Brayden Johnson. Alex Wisecup added the extra-point as Elba's lead grew to 34-0 with 7:36 remaining in the half.

The Tiger defense got in on the scoring on the game's ensuing offensive series when Elba's Byron Burks stepped in front of a Rebel pass and returned the interception 65 yards for a score. Wisecup added the extra-point, and with 3:25 left in the half the Tigers lead had ballooned to 48-0.

Zion Chapel got on the scoreboard with 3:05 remaining in the third quarter when Jackson Adcock scooped up an Elba fumble and rambled 33 yards for a touchdown, and the Rebels added a late score with 3:18 remaining in the fourth quarter on a 1-yard run by Bradon Grantham, but it was way too little, way too late, as Elba easily held on for the 48-12 region win on the road.

Brayden Johnson completed 4 of 6 passes for 158 yards and one touchdown and rushed for a 9-yard td to spark the Elba offense, while Chrystyle Caldwell rushed twice for 75 yards and two touchdowns and caught one pass for 32 yards and one touchdown. JT Coleman added 56 yards rushing and one td on just four carries, Alvin Henderson added 28 yards rushing and one td on four carries, and Peyton McCart pulled in two passes for 110 yards.

Peyton McCart had 5 tackles, a quarterback sack and a pass interception to lead the Elba defense, while Roland Safford added 5 stops and Jamal Siler, Kaden Grogg, Ty Sieving and JT Coleman all added 3 tackles.

Morgan Sanders rushed for 30 yards on 10 carries and Bradon Grantham added 19 yards rushing and one td on three carries to lead the Zion Chapel ground game, while Mason Stuart completed 5 of 15 passes, with two interceptions, for 60 yards.

Elba Tiger Brayden Johnson (12) looks for a receiver. Johnson passed for 158 yards and one touchdown in last week's 48-12 win over Zion Chapel.

The Bulldogs offense was ready to roll when it did get back on the field; however, and covered 80 yards in just four plays to get on the scoreboard. A 13-yard run by Cale Sumblin and a 28-yard scamper by Jeb Crosby quickly moved Kinston across midfield,

The score came on a 30-yard touchdown toss from Sumblin to JW Mikel, and Free added the extra-point as the Bulldogs went on top 20-0 with 10:10 remaining in the fourth quarter.

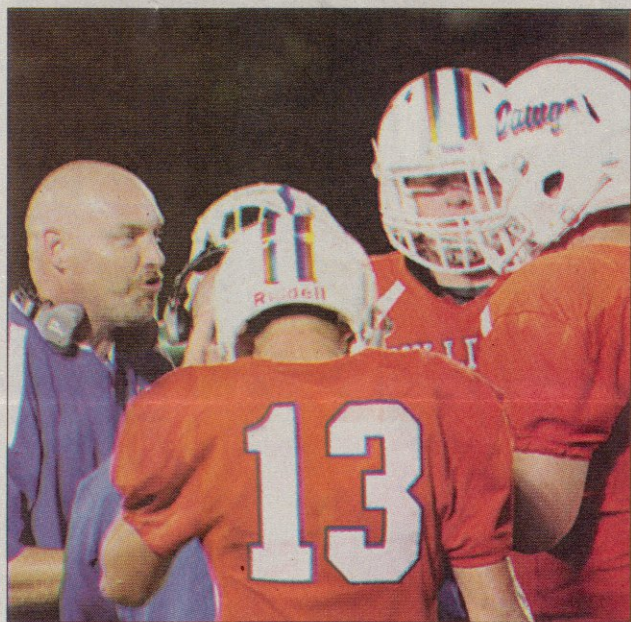

The Bulldog defense continued to dominate on Red Level's next three possessions, with two possessions ending in turnovers as Dalton Smith picked off a Tiger toss and
